MojoPac*[™] Software Powers Fenwick & West LLP Attorneys with Increased Mobile Productivity

Fenwick & West LLP to nationally deploy MojoPac Enterprise Solution[™] to Over 250 attorneys.

Mountain View, CA – December 13th, 2006 – RingCube Technologies, Inc., the creator of truly portable personal computing solutions, announced today that Fenwick & West LLP will deploy its MojoPac Enterprise Solution to take all the resources of their work PC computer anywhere on any personal storage device. MojoPac, for the first time, enables people to turn any storage device, including USB flash, personal external drives, iPods or even cell phones, into their personal computing environment – which when plugged into the USB connection on any computer functions just as their own computer.

“Deploying the new MojoPac Enterprise Solution will immediately increase the productivity and mobility of our attorneys,” said Matt Kesner, CIO, Fenwick & West LLP. “With MojoPac Enterprise Solution, we want to give our lawyers the option to use a secure environment without always taking a laptop.”

With MojoPac, Fenwick & West attorneys can securely access documents, unified voice messaging, case management and billing from the road wherever they go, on any portable storage device. MojoPac transforms any storage device into a personal computer, instantly.

“The MojoPac Enterprise Solution helps attorneys be more productive on the go,” said Shan Appajodu, CEO and Co-Founder of RingCube. “By giving attorneys the ability to securely take their work applications, files and settings anywhere, anytime, MojoPac Enterprise Solution is allowing attorneys to stay ahead of the competition.”
